CLAIM SECY. MELLON SIGNED NO CONTRACTS

JUDICIARY COMMITTEE OF SENATE PROBES

SENATOR REED SHOWS COMMITTEE ORIGINAL OF CONTRACT

4TH DAY OF DEBATE OVER ANDREW MELLON'S LEGAL STATUS

Washington, May 1.—(UP)—Secretary of Treasury Mellon did not sign a contract between the Mellon and Duke interests in connection with the Aluminum Company of America in 1925, Senator Reed, Repn., Pa., told the senate judiciary committee today.

Reed showed the committee the original of the contract. It did not contain Mellon's name though it was signed by R. B. Mellon, the secretary's brother.

By PAUL R. MALLON (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, May 1.—(UP)—The contest over continuance in office of Secretary of Treasury Mellon developed further today in the senate judiciary committee as the lawyers of the committee started the fourth day of executive arguments over Mellon's legal status.

The committee was reported divided 10 to 7 or 9 to 8 in Mellon's favor.

Following new evidence disclosed by Senator Walsh of Montana relative to Mellon's association in 1925 with an Aluminum Company of America deal, Chairman Norris of the committee is rewriting the report he recently submitted, to enlarge its contents. The report holds Mellon is violating an old federal statute by owning stock in the aluminum company and other concerns engaged in commerce.

A letter has been laid before the committee, signed by Mellon, in which he takes the position he is as completely disassociated from the various companies "as if I were dead." It was learned today. Mellon contends he was interested in the 1925 merger deal in only an advisory capacity.

Mellon's deposition in the civil suit over the 1925 merger does not make clear what contract he signed in connection with the matter. He reveals only he did sign one contract, that the deal between the Aluminum company and the late James B. Duke interests was consummated at his apartment here, and that he made a trip to site of the merger companies property in Canada along with Duke, Arthur V. Davis, president of the Aluminum company and others.

It is not evident from the testimony whether Mellon signed as a stockholder of the Aluminum company or in what capacity he acted.

The committee is considering reopening its hearings to clear up the matter, but some senators are against the move for fear they might be accused of "persecuting" the secretary. They say they are willing to act on the evidence as it stands and point out they are using only the evidence given by Mellon himself.

Norris intends to work into his report the fact the senate interstate commerce committee yesterday required Charles M. Saltzman to dispose of his stock in the General Electric Company and the American Telephone and Telegraph Company before it would confirm his nomination to the Federal Radio Commission.

It has always been the intention of the senate, Norris believes, never to confirm officials who own stock in concerns which might have an interest in obtaining concessions from the government.

U. S. AS LEADING COMMERCIAL NATION OF THE WHOLE WORLD

Geneva, May, 1.—(UP)—The United States not only maintained its position as leading commercial country in the world during 1928 but increased its exports over its imports by $372,000,000, according to the League of Nations world-wide economic review which was made public today.

The review showed the year 1928 to be one of general consolidation, with the aggregate production of wealth not below that of 1927. International trade increased in volume over the previous year, and also in value. The monetary stability of the world, particularly that of Europe, was especially marked.

Riots in Berlin, Many Arrests in Paris on May Day

TRIED TO DROWN HIMSELF BUT WAS TOO FAT TO SINK

Chicago, May 1.—(UP)—Abe Axelrod, age 32, weight 230, is going to reduce, he said when he regained consciousness after being fished out of the Chicago river by a sand boat crew. "I tried my best to commit suicide but I just couldn't make myself sink," he lamented.

NO INDICTMENT FOUND AGAINST DEPUTY R. SMITH

GRAND JURY FINDS NO CHARGE AGAINST DRY ENFORCEMENT OFFICER

ONLY ONE INDICTMENT IN MRS. DE KING SLAYING AT AURORA

Geneva, Ill., May 1.—(UP)—The Kane county grand jury yesterday found no indictment against Deputy Sheriff Roy Smith for killing Mrs. Lillian De King while raiding her home for liquor last month, although a coroner's jury had recommended that he be held for manslaughter.

After a two weeks' investigation of the killing which aroused a nation-wide controversy over the justification for the shooting, the grand jury indicted only one man—Eugene Boyd Fairchild, the under-cover agent whose false affidavit that he had bought liquor at the De King home in Aurora led to the fatal raid. Fairchild was charged with perjury.

MEXICAN REVOLT ON WOBBLING LEGS

DESERTED BY LEADERS AND IS HELD PRACTICALLY MOTIONLESS BY FEDERALS

Mexico City, May 1.—(UP)—The Mexican revolution stood on wobbling legs today, deserted by many of its leaders and held practically motionless by federal troops which closed in from two sides.

After the long, tedious march through El Pulpito canyon, Gen. Juan Almazan had arrived within six miles of Los Asoles, the main rebel encampment, and announced his intention of cutting off the rebel retreat to Agua Prieta, in the northernmost section of Sonora.

The west coast federal army, directed by Minister of War Plutarco Elias Calles, still was advancing from the south, and a final drive on the remaining rebel forces appeared imminent.

Gen. Marcelo Caraveo and Gen. Trenino, the latter considered one of the ablest rebel generals, commanded the insurgents at Los Asoles, unofficially advised.

Washington, May 1.—(UP)—Confidential dispatches received here today bore out reports from Mexico that the Mexican rebellion which began March 3 on the eve of President Hoover's inauguration has been crushed. This result of the effort to destroy the Portes Gil government had been expected by American officials who during the first week of rebellion offered moral and material aid to Mexico City.

Possibility that a considerable period of banditry may follow the collapse of the organized rebellion is not overlooked here. But confidence is expressed that the Mexican government will be able to cope both with disorders and financial problem expected to follow two months of domestic strife.

Two Miners Dead, 11 Recovering From Being Trapped Four Hours After Fire and Explosion

RIVERSIDE ZINC PLANT, JOPLIN, SCENE OF BLAST

2 FATALLY INJURED WHEN THEY JUMPED FROM FLAMING DERRICK

MINE OFFICIALS INSPECTING PLANT WHEN EXPLOSION SET FIRE TO MINE

Joplin, Mo., May 1.—(UP)—Two miners were dead here today, and eleven others were recovering from an experience of being trapped for four hours after a fire and explosion in the Riverside zinc and lead plant near here last night.

Frank Lewis, 19, Baxter Springs, Kan., and Jack Woods, Webb City, were fatally injured when they jumped from a flaming derrick where they were attempting to hoist miners to the surface.

Jacob R. Price, Kansas City, president of the Kansas City Smelting company and Charles Jones, Joplin mine operator, were inspecting the mine when an explosion of unknown origin set fire to the mine. They with two miners, were hoisted to the surface by the two men who were killed.

The eleven men trapped in the mine were uninjured.

DIES FROM INJURIES IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

Faribault, May 1.—(UP)—Walter Heath, prominent citizen of Owatonna died here today following injuries received in an automobile crash near Medford.

Joseph Wolsey, Jr., who was with Heath when their automobile got out of control and hurled an embankment, escaped with minor injuries.

Heath was badly crushed and sustained severe internal injuries.

LON CHANEY SUFFERS FROM ATTACK OF FLU

Hollywood, Calif., May 1.—(UP)—Lon Chaney, motion picture star celebrated for his gruesome characterizations, was ill at his home here today, suffering from an attack of influenza. His physicians said his condition was not serious, but that he probably would be in bed for a week.

STUDENT OFFICER KILLED WHEN HIS PLANE CRASHES

San Antonio, Tex., May 1.—(UP)—Second Lt. C. Banta, student officer of the army primary flying school at Brooks field, was killed today when his plane crashed and burned while attempting to land.

BUILDING TRADES UNIONS WANT WAGE INCREASES

St. Louis, Mo., May 1.—(UP)—Demanding general wage increases 4,500 members of building trades unions went on strike here today. Employers, acting through the group council of the associated building interests had refused their demand for a higher scale.

CHARGED WITH KILLING STUDENT

JOS. FARRUGGIO PLEADS GUILTY TO SECOND DEGREE MURDER CHARGE

Freehold, N. J., May 1.—(UP)—Joseph Farruggio, who was charged with killing the young high school student whom he believed had attacked his daughter, pleaded guilty today to a second degree murder charge. He will be sentenced Saturday.

Farruggio had been charged with the murder of Harold Johnson, young high school athletic star. He was shot October 14 after Farruggio, a day laborer, had claimed that his daughter, Marianna, said that she was about to become a mother and that Johnson, son of one of the prominent business men of Freehold, was the father.

When the trial opened yesterday attorneys indicated they would defend Farruggio on the grounds of emotional insanity and the unwritten law. Today, however, they agreed to have Farruggio, who is the father of 12 children, plead non vult—which is tantamount to guilty to the second degree murder charge.

3 MINNEAPOLIS MEN CHARGED WITH MURDER

Erie, Pa., May 1.—(UP)—Charged with murder, Sam Bard, 25, Fred Halversen, 42, and Joseph Invie, 40, all of Minneapolis, Minn., were held today in the city jail here.

The three men were held for the May term of court at a hearing before a justice of peace in connection with the death three weeks ago of Russell T. Swanson, a state highway patrolman of Mount Jewett, Pa.

Swanson was shot as he rode behind their car in a motorcycle directing the three men to a justice of the peace. The patrolman had stopped the car in which the men were riding and placed them under arrest on a charge of theft.

Authorities said Bard admitted shooting Swanson from the rear window of the car. The men were captured a few hours after the shooting. Shot through the mouth, Halversen apparently had attempted suicide police said.

WHERE FIVE DIED

Remains of the car in which five passengers perished when the automobile ran into a Detroit-Chicago bus at Elkhart, Ind. Mrs. Ural Mable, her son, Clarence, two daughters, Vaughn and Ruth, and Daniel Papa, driver of the car, all of Elkhart, were the victims.

HIGH SCHOOL GIN PARTIES ARE INVESTIGATED

BLAME IN CHICAGO SHIFTED FROM PARENTS TO BOARD OF EDUCATION

TRUANCY CHARGES AGAINST MRS. JANE LISTON ARE DISMISSED

Chicago, May 1.—(UP)—Blame for high school gin parties was shifted from the shoulders of parents to the board of education today with the dismissal of truancy charges against Mrs. Jane Liston, mother of Coletta Liston, 15-year-old "jazz age" pupil who told a coroner's jury that "all girls drink and smoke or are left out."

Judge Max Luster, before whom the case was tried after a jury of prominent women sociologists and welfare workers had been dismissed, ruled that evidence against Mrs. Liston was insufficient to warrant charges that she connived at the truancy of her daughter.

Several witnesses testified that Mrs. Liston was intoxicated several times when they tried to check up on Coletta's absences from school. The judge's criticism of the school board was directed at insufficient documentary evidence, pointing out that the bill of information was dated 1922 instead of 1929.

Coletta was a member of a party of high school revelers when George Lux was killed in an automobile accident. At the inquest she recited details of her "jazz age" companions, dwelling on liquor drinking by school girls which, she said, was necessary of the girls were to have a good time.

The case was continued when started before the extra-legal jury of women last week before a large crowd of social workers and parents who wished to inquire further into tales of widespread drinking among high school students.

CRAMER TAKES OFF FOR REGINA, SASK.

Edmonton, Sask., May 1.—(UP)—Parker Cramer, Arctic flier now engaged in a projected flight from Nome, Alaska, to Chicago, took off today for Regina after an eight hour rest in Edmonton.

HUNGARIAN IS ANXIOUS TO FLY

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., May 1.—(UP)—Andreas Vincez, a Hungarian, would fly across the Atlantic for $100, would make the return trip for $150, and would fly around the world for $1,000, he said at the field today. Vincez, recently arrived in this country, is looking for a backer.

DEFENDS RIGHT OF CHILDREN TO MAKE MUD PIES

Brooklyn, May 1.—(UP)—The inalienable right of his children to make mud pies in the hallway of his apartment home was defended with a hatchet today by Lewis Levinson, 43, of Brooklyn. As a result Roman Belohavstic, janitor, who challenged this right and ordered the children to cease, is nursing hatchet wounds on the neck and hands. Levinson was arrested for felonious assault.

CLAIM WIFE SLAYER WAS CRIME STUDENT

EARL F. PEACOCK, NOW LODGED IN COUNTY JAIL, WHITE PLAINS, N. Y.

CONFESSION KILLING SPOUSE, THEN FIRING BODY WITH KEROSENE

New York, May 1.—(UP)—Earl Francis Peacock, radio lecturer who confessed that he killed his 20-year-old wife on their first wedding anniversary, was a student of crime and fancied himself as an amateur detective, it was revealed today. With Peacock in the county jail at White Plains, new facts concerning the "torch murder" of Dorothy Helmselman Peacock were coming to light.

Peacock, who lectured three times weekly on radio mechanics, greeting his audiences with a cheery, "hello folks," had been in the habit of answering magazine crime puzzles. His efforts had included solutions "of the murders of Dot King and Joseph B. Elwell, celebrated New York mysteries."

One of the attempts to "cover up" the slaying of his wife was the introduction of a girl as an "alibi witness." Miss Frances Newman, who described herself as a housewife, spent last Wednesday night with Peacock at his Mount Vernon apartment, she admitted.

"If anybody asks you about the girl I carried out of here last Sunday you tell them you were drunk and I had to help you into the car," Peacock told the girl.

But in his confession to police after eight hours of questioning yesterday, Peacock said that "the girl I carried out of here last Sunday" was the limp and lifeless body of his wife.

They had spent their anniversary together and driven out from New York, where Dorothy had taken a room and a job as stenographer after her separation from her husband three months previously.

"Well, it's the same old dump!" Dorothy remarked as they entered the small apartment.

There were angry words. Peacock brought out a revolver, brandishing it to make an impression. She clawed at him with her fingernails and Peacock brought the butt down upon her head.

"I jumped on her and got my hands around her throat," he told detectives. "I felt her legs going cold and I quit."

Then he picked up the body, lumbering down the stairs with it. He bundled it in his car, drove toward Scarsdale. Along the Ardsley road he stopped his car, took out the body and dropped it beneath a blossoming apple tree.

Last Friday Peacock obtained some kerosene and went back to that spot where apple blossoms were drifting slowly down upon the body of the woman who had been his wife for a year. The oil was poured upon the clothes and a fire started.

A rain that night stopped the flames before they could destroy all marks of identification. The body was found Saturday.

White Plains, N. Y., May 1.—(UP) Earl Francis Peacock, young radio lecturer who strangled his wife, Dorothy, and later applied a torch to her kerosene-soaked clothing, is ready to pay the penalty for his crime.

He tossed all night in his cell at the county jail here moaning, "I want to die. I want to meet my wife."

He said that though he was a student of crime and fancied himself an amateur detective, he never would have conceived the "torch murder" had he not read of a simi-

OTHERWISE DAY IS QUIET ALL OVER EUROPE

PARIS POLICE ARREST 2,285 IN RAIDS ON LABOR AND COMMUNIST MEETINGS

MOSCOW CELEBRATES DAY WITH MASS MEETINGS, PARADES, LECTURES, ETC.

(By United Press)

Rioting in Berlin and wholesale arrests in Paris today marked the world-wide celebration of May Day observed as an international labor day by extremist elements.

Except in Berlin, however, reports indicated that May Day was marked with much less disorder than usual.

In the German capital, sporadic outbreaks occurred in several outlying sections. Reports were conflicting. Police admitted that several had been injured and that the police were fired on. Reports of deaths were not confirmed. About 200 arrests were made.

In Paris, police made 2,285 arrests up to noon, mostly in raids on labor and communist meetings. There was little cessation of work, except in the building trades.

In Budapest the police reserves were held in readiness for any possible disturbances and today the streets were lined with foot and mounted police.

Moscow, where May Day is second in importance only to the anniversary of the revolution itself, celebrated the day with mass meetings, parades, lectures, speeches and a gigantic demonstration in Red Square.

The police of Mexico City was mobilized for possible trouble. Special guards were put in front of the United States embassy, where a demonstration last year was broken up by the authorities after much trouble.

Berlin, May 1.—(UP)—Police announced at 1 p. m. that several had been injured in minor clashes during May Day celebrations in outlying districts of the city.

Unidentified persons fired on the police in one district but no one was injured, the announcement said. Police made 180 arrests.

CONVICTED AUTHOR FILES AN APPEAL

Brooklyn, May 1.—(UP)—Eighty-two alleged errors in the trial of Mrs. Mary Ware Dennett, author of "The Sex Side of Life," for mailing of which she was convicted and fined $300 in federal court here last week, were set forth in her notice of appeal filed today.

Attorney Morris Ernst alleged Judge Warren B. Burrows erred in not admitting testimony and testimonials of experts and institutions and in failure to dismiss the indictment.

Mrs. Dennett, who has been paroled to her attorney under $1,000 bail pending the appeal, will appear tomorrow to post bond.

CANADIAN POLICEMAN ROUTS BANDIT TRIO

London, Ont., May 1.—(UP)—Held up by a trio of bandits near here early today, Dilworth McLennan, a Detroit policeman, shot and killed one of the men and wounded a second. The third member of the gang escaped in the car which they were driving.

The dead is thought to be Robert Schacht, and the wounded man gave the name of Tony Milane. Milane is in the Victoria hospital here.

One of the attempts to "cover up" the slaying of his wife was the introduction of a girl as an "alibi witness." Miss Frances Newman, who described herself as a housewife, spent last Wednesday night with Peacock at his Mount Vernon apartment, she admitted.

"If anybody asks you about the girl I carried out of here last Sunday you tell them you were drunk and I had to help you into the car," Peacock told the girl.

But in his confession to police after eight hours of questioning yesterday, Peacock said that "the girl I carried out of here last Sunday" was the limp and lifeless body of his wife.

They had spent their anniversary together and driven out from New York, where Dorothy had taken a room and a job as stenographer after her separation from her husband three months previously.

"Well, it's the same old dump!" Dorothy remarked as they entered the small apartment.

There were angry words. Peacock brought out a revolver, brandishing it to make an impression. She clawed at him with her fingernails and Peacock brought the butt down upon her head.

"I jumped on her and got my hands around her throat," he told detectives. "I felt her legs going cold and I quit."

Then he picked up the body, lumbering down the stairs with it. He bundled it in his car, drove toward Scarsdale. Along the Ardsley road he stopped his car, took out the body and dropped it beneath a blossoming apple tree.

Last Friday Peacock obtained some kerosene and went back to that spot where apple blossoms were drifting slowly down upon the body of the woman who had been his wife for a year. The oil was poured upon the clothes and a fire started.

A rain that night stopped the flames before they could destroy all marks of identification. The body was found Saturday.

White Plains, N. Y., May 1.—(UP) Earl Francis Peacock, young radio lecturer who strangled his wife, Dorothy, and later applied a torch to her kerosene-soaked clothing, is ready to pay the penalty for his crime.

He tossed all night in his cell at the county jail here moaning, "I want to die. I want to meet my wife."

He said that though he was a student of crime and fancied himself an amateur detective, he never would have conceived the "torch murder" had he not read of a simi-

PARIS POLICE ARREST 2,285 IN RAIDS ON LABOR AND COMMUNIST MEETINGS

MOSCOW CELEBRATES DAY WITH MASS MEETINGS, PARADES, LECTURES, ETC.

(By United Press)

Rioting in Berlin and wholesale arrests in Paris today marked the world-wide celebration of May Day observed as an international labor day by extremist elements.

Except in Berlin, however, reports indicated that May Day was marked with much less disorder than usual.

In the German capital, sporadic outbreaks occurred in several outlying sections. Reports were conflicting. Police admitted that several had been injured and that the police were fired on. Reports of deaths were not confirmed. About 200 arrests were made.

In Paris, police made 2,285 arrests up to noon, mostly in raids on labor and communist meetings. There was little cessation of work, except in the building trades.

In Budapest the police reserved were held in readiness for any possible disturbances and today the streets were lined with foot and mounted police.

Moscow, where May Day is second in importance only to the anniversary of the revolution itself, celebrated the day with mass meetings, parades, lectures, speeches and a gigantic demonstration in Red Square.

The police of Mexico City was mobilized for possible trouble. Special guards were put in front of the United States embassy, where a demonstration last year was broken up by the authorities, after much trouble.

Berlin, May 1.—(UP)—Police announced at 1 p. m. that several had been injured in minor clashes during May Day celebrations in outlying districts of the city.

Unidentified persons fired on the police in one district but no one was injured, the announcement said. Police made 180 arrests.

CONVICTED AUTHOR FILES AN APPEAL

Brooklyn, May 1.—(UP)—Eighty-two alleged errors in the trial of Mrs. Mary Ware Dennett, author of "The Sex Side of Life," for mailing of which she was convicted and fined $300 in federal court here last week, were set forth in her notice of appeal filed today.

Attorney Morris Ernst alleged Judge Warren B. Burrows erred in not admitting testimony and testimonials of experts and institutions and in failure to dismiss the indictment.

Mrs. Dennett, who has been paroled to her attorney under $1,000 bail pending the appeal, will appear tomorrow to post bond.

CANADIAN POLICEMAN ROUTS BANDIT TRIO

London, Ont., May 1.—(UP)—Held up by a trio of bandits near here early today, Dilworth McLennan, a Detroit policeman, shot and killed one of the men and wounded a second. The third member of the gang escaped in the car which they were driving.

The dead is thought to be Robert Schacht, and the wounded man gave the name of Tony Milane. Milane is in the Victoria hospital here.

BIRD'S ROOFS

with Bird's Twin Shingles

You have probably delayed repairing that old worn-out, weather-beaten roof because you just didn't want to go through the trouble of ripping off the old shingles. You know that it would be a dirty, messy job, littering up your lawns and garden plots with splinters, nails and broken shingles.

Here's good news! You can cover your home without going through all that unnecessary work. Save the time and money you would spend tearing up the old shingles. Lay Bird's Twins or Double Twins right over your present worn-out roof!

Bird's Twin Shingles, laid over your old shingles, will make a durable, weather-proof and waterproof double roof for your home that will protect you from rain, snow, and from flying sparks.

Bird's Twin Shingles are made by Bird & Son, Inc. (Est. 1795), manufacturers of Bird's Shingle Design Roofing, Art-Craft Roofing, Paroid Roofing, Neponset Black Building Paper, Bird's Insulating Blanket and Neponset Board. There's a Bird product for every sort of roofing!

We are headquarters for Bird's roofings, building papers and wall board.

TO OPEN WEDNESDAY, MAY 15
Riding Horses to Be Purchased for Pleasure of Guests; Six Cottages in Use

Additional rooms to be equipped with bath are being constructed as an addition to Pine Harbor Inn on Gull lake.

The cost of the improvements will amount to approximately $2,000.

Proprietors of Pine Harbor Inn are Mr. and Mrs. Gust Almquist. They own 102 acres on Gull lake with six cottages. As an added feature this year riding horses will be used for the pleasure of the Inn guests.

Mr. Almquist announced today that Pine Harbor Inn will open on May 15.

Proper Use of Hammer

The muscles in a workman's hand, arm, shoulder and back become a part of a machine in using a hammer. All use as strain caused by gripping the handle too hard or by holding some muscle tense, when it might be relaxed, should be avoided. The hand should grasp the handle near the end, and the grip should be relaxed just when the nail is hit.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS ACTIVITIES

The Ohitaya Camp Fire met Friday at the Lincoln school. Talks on famous women were given by the following girls: Eleanore Severson on Maude Booth, Julia Thoe on Clara Barton, Marie Trachet on Helen Keller.

Songs included: Burn Fire Burn and The Sun is Sinking in the West. The Pledge of Allegiance was given.

The subject of giving a mothers and daughters banquet was discussed. The girls that went on the hike last week showed that they knew the silhouette of five trees in winter.

The Old Fashioned Bouquet hiked with their guardian across the river to the river flats, Tuesday night.

They had as guests Miss Sundberg and Miss Hauge of the high school faculty. Wieners were roasted over a bon fire and eaten with buns. Next came marshmallows and pop. Last of all suckers were passed by one of the guests. On the way home they picked up a yellow bellied sapsucker which they brought home so that other children could see it. Next week the Blue Birds are planning a surprise.

The Ta Ta Pochun Campfires met at the home of their leader, Mrs. E. H. Rhodes, Wednesday night. The

THE MELLON-HATERS AT WORK

THE Mellonophobes in the Senate are still working at their favored task of trying to make things uncomfortable for the Secretary of the Treasury, says the Minneapolis Journal. When President Hoover merely continued Mr. Mellon in his portfolio without sending in his name for fresh confirmation along with the newly named members of the Cabinet, there was consternation among the Mellon-baiters. They had counted on an enjoyable rumpus and row, when the question of confirmation came up.

They investigated the retention of the Secretary without a renomination and found, to their dismay, that the precedents to the number of a hundred or so were all in favor of the regularity and legality of the procedure. Having once been confirmed as Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Mellon could retain the post as long as the President wanted him there. Mr. Hoover is the third President who has been glad to have this able financier manage the Treasury.

The latest move of the anti-Mellon schemers has been to raise the question whether the Secretary is not so directly interested in business enterprises as to disqualify him under the law. But Mr. Mellon showed that, when he became Secretary, he divested himself of all directorships or other connection with the management of enterprises in which he was interested. He admits that he still owns various securities as an investment.

Attorney General Mitchell holds that ownership of these securities in no way disqualifies Mr. Mellon, so long as he has no share in management. But the question has been taken to the Senate Judiciary Committee, which finds itself hopelessly divided. A debate on the floor of the Senate is promised.

In this connection it is pointed out that, if every Senator or Congressman who owns industrial or other securities were thereby debarred from voting on questions that arose affecting the companies whose securities they own, it might often be difficult to get a quorum to act.

And it seems rather absurd to require that a man of sufficient financial ability to administer the Treasury efficiently must, before accepting the post, sell all his securities of whatever kind. Even Government bonds would have to be disposed of, lest the Secretary be biased in some of the Treasury's huge transactions by such ownership.

If restrictions such as the Mellonophobes now insist on were in force, it would be next to impossible to get a really able and successful financier to take the Treasury post. And if similar rules were applied to Congress, its membership would be decimated.

Of course, the motive behind all this is plain. It is a political scheme to "get" the ablest Secretary of the Treasury the Country has had in many a long year.

ALL THOSE DIFFERENT WEEKS

PEOPLE used to wonder when they surveyed the Russian calendar of the old days which was so liberally sprinkled with holidays that the worker never got in full time.

In a way Americans are no better. Instead of holidays we have crammed our calendar full of various kinds of "weeks" ranging from "Raisin Week," "National Egg Week," to Apple Week, "Thrift Week," etc.

In the average Brainerd home there are a lot of weeks that have not received any national publicity or organized propaganda. They include rake the lawn and burn the leaves week, clean the basement week, rummage in the attic week, burn the grass and tidy up the lake property week, meet the last payment on the new dining room set this week, paint the garage week, save for the first half of the real estate taxes to be paid to Sam Adair before the merry month of May ends week, get adjusted to the new 3 cent gas tax week, graduation week at the high school and so on ad infinitum.

Some of the weeks, lowly and meek and garbed in no compelling publicity, mean more to the home than many of the widely heralded ones.

The sad thing about it is that it's getting us all to measure time in weeks instead of hours.

AIDING THE RADIO FUND

THE dance at the U. C. T. Auditorium tonight is for the benefit of the St. Joseph hospital radio fund. Everything to put on this dance has been contributed freely and without cost so as to swell the receipts.

All the public is asked to contribute its presence. With a large attendance there will be quite an appreciable addition to the radio fund which now totals over $800.

The object of the radio fund is to purchase and install a radio system which will connect with each room of the hospital and will permit each patient to take advantage of such without cost. It will bring cheer and entertainment to the bedside of a patient and relieve that monotony so often apparent when a patient is counting the hours while he is convalescent.

It will, in fact, aid in the cure of many a case for it will cause the patient to think of other things besides his illness or injuries. Take the case of a patient from out of town or the country, who in many instances has few or no visitors. Radio will cheer him in his lonely hours.

Attend the dance tonight. You will enjoy yourself and at the same time assist a most worthy cause.

A TOWN AND COUNTRY PARTY

HERE'S a new idea. Let's have a town and country party and invite our farmer friends to town. Let the representation from the country include the farm bureau groups, the farm P. T. A.'s, the health groups, the university extension groups, etc.

Let the farmers put on half the program and the town the balance. Let them all meet at the U. C. T. auditorium.

The host committee, it is suggested, is to include representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary, Lions, County Agricultural Agent, P. T. A. advisory council.

Let the merchants cooperate by putting on a bargain day lot of sales. Have the party at the end of the day.

Get the country fiddlers to town by putting on a prize contest. The average citizen can help in this. Go over your list of former acquaintances who have done you favors in the past, and invite them to town. Make the whole party a genuine, honest to goodness, good fellowship occasion.

THE MELLON-HATERS AT WORK

The Mellonophobes in the Senate are still working at their favored task of trying to make things uncomfortable for the Secretary of the Treasury, says the Minneapolis Journal. When President Hoover merely continued Mr. Mellon in his portfolio without sending in his name for fresh confirmation along with the newly named members of the Cabinet, there was consternation among the Mellon-baiters. They had counted on an enjoyable rumpus and row, when the question of confirmation came up.

They investigated the retention of the Secretary without a renomination and found, to their dismay, that the precedents to the number of a hundred or so were all in favor of the regularity and legality of the procedure. Having once been confirmed as Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Mellon could retain the post as long as the President wanted him there. Mr. Hoover is the third President who has been glad to have this able financier manage the Treasury.

The latest move of the anti-Mellon schemers has been to raise the question whether the Secretary is not so directly interested in business enterprises as to disqualify him under the law. But Mr. Mellon showed that, when he became Secretary, he divested himself of all directorships or other connection with the management of enterprises in which he was interested. He admits that he still owns various securities as an investment.

Attorney General Mitchell holds that ownership of these securities in no way disqualifies Mr. Mellon, so long as he has no share in management. But the question has been taken to the Senate Judiciary Committee, which finds itself hopelessly divided. A debate on the floor of the Senate is promised.

In this connection it is pointed out that, if every Senator or Congressman who owns industrial or other securities were thereby debarred from voting on questions that arose affecting the companies whose securities they own, it might often be difficult to get a quorum to act.

And it seems rather absurd to require that a man of sufficient financial ability to administer the Treasury efficiently must, before accepting the post, sell all his securities of whatever kind. Even Government bonds would have to be disposed of, lest the Secretary be biased in some of the Treasury's huge transactions by such ownership.

If restrictions such as the Mellonophobes now insist on were in force, it would be next to impossible to get a really able and successful financier to take the Treasury post. And if similar rules were applied to Congress, its membership would be decimated.

Of course, the motive behind all this is plain. It is a political scheme to "get" the ablest Secretary of the Treasury the Country has had in many a long year.

ALL THOSE DIFFERENT WEEKS

PEOPLE used to wonder when they surveyed the Russian calendar of the old days which was so liberally sprinkled with holidays that the worker never got in full time.

In a way Americans are no better. Instead of holidays we have crammed our calendar full of various kinds of "weeks" ranging from "Raisin Week," "National Egg Week" to Apple Week," "Thrifty Week," etc.

In the average Brainerd home there are a lot of weeks that have not received any national publicity or organized propaganda. They include rake the lawn and burn the leaves week, clean the basement week, rummage in the attic week, burn the grass and tidy up the lake property week, meet the last payment on the new dining room set this week, paint the garage week, save for the first half of the real estate taxes to be paid to Sam Adair before the merry month of May ends week, get adjusted to the new 3 cent gas tax week, graduation week at the high school and so on ad infinitum.

Some of the weeks, lowly and meek and garbed in no compelling publicity, mean more to the home than many of the widely heralded ones.

The sad thing about it is that it's getting us all to measure time in weeks instead of hours.

AIDING THE RADIO FUND

THE dance at the U. C. T. Auditorium tonight is for the benefit of the St. Joseph hospital radio fund. Everything to put on this dance has been contributed freely and without cost so as to swell the receipts.

All the public is asked to contribute is its presence. With a large attendance there will be quite an appreciable addition to the radio fund which now totals over $800.

The object of the radio fund is to purchase and install a radio system which will connect with each room of the hospital and will permit each patient to take advantage of such without cost. It will bring cheer and entertainment to the bedside of a patient and relieve that monotony so often apparent when a patient is counting the hours while he is convalescent.

It will, in fact, aid in the cure of many a case for it will cause the patient to think of other things besides his illness or injuries. Take the case of a patient from out of town or the country, who in many instances has few or no visitors. Radio will cheer him in his lonely hours.

Attend the dance tonight. You will enjoy yourself and at the same time assist a most worthy cause.

A TOWN AND COUNTRY PARTY

HERE'S a new idea. Let's have a town and country party and invite our farmer friends to town. Let the representation from the country include the farm bureau groups, the farm P. T. A.'s, the health groups, the university extension groups, etc.

Let the farmers put on half the program and the town the balance. Let them all meet at the U. C. T. auditorium.

The host committee, it is suggested, is to include representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary, Lions, County Agricultural Agent, P. T. A. advisory council.

Let the merchants cooperate by putting on a bargain day lot of sales. Have the party at the end of the day.

Get the country fiddlers to town by putting on a prize contest. The average citizen can help in this. Go over your list of farmer acquaintances who have done you favors in the past, and invite them to town. Make the whole party a genuine, honest to goodness, good fellowship occasion.

BOSTON BRAVES SET OUT IN DIZZY RACE FOR PENNANT

MAY EQUAL THE RECORD BRAVES MADE IN 1914

AT OPENING OF SEASON OF 1929 BASEBALL CRITICS DOUBT-FUL OF TEAM

JOHN J. MCGRAW'S MEN DIS-HEARTENED, CAN'T MAKE THEIR STRIDE

New York, May 1.—Probably nine out of every ten baseball writers in the United States have found reason in the past week to dig up the history of Boston's Braves of 1914 for the purpose of comparison with Emil Fuchs's 1929 edition.

School children throughout the nation know the story of the ball club that suffered a sunstroke while wallowing in the cellar during mid-season 1914, and rose to unexpected heights to capture the National league bunting and the world's championship.

Boston today is out in front of the National league race with a lead of four and a half games. Instead of starting at the bottom to work up, the 1929 Braves are starting at the top to work—who knows where?

Baseball critics, before the season opened, cast an almost unanimous vote for the Braves as the worst team in the league, and the majority still are to be convinced that they will finish higher than deep in the second division.

The Giant fans, here in New York probably are the most worried group in the older circuit. Ten games with the Braves, Phillies and Robins, picked to finish sixth, seventh and eighth, name your order, have brought the Giants a percentage of but .500—and four powerful western teams will head east this week.

John J. McGraw has been a victim of something—he hasn't the least idea what. Of course yesterday's 2 to 0 defeat at Brooklyn was not a surprise. Dazzy Vance probably will beat the Giants again this year.

But against the Phils and Braves McGraw has been haunted by a flinx that defies definition. The Giant pitchers have looked better than those of the Yankees—and the opposition apparently weaker.

But the Giants have dawdled along, winning and losing for no apparent reason.

The theory has been advanced that the Giants must have stern opposition before they hit their stride and become really dangerous.

If this is the case they are due for rapid advancement for Friday next the St. Louis Cardinals invade the Polo grounds, to be followed in succession by the Pittsburgh Pirates, the Chicago Cubs and the Cincinnati Reds.

Those teams should bring out the best in any club—if opposition is all that's needed.

PLAY BYE CLOTHING CO. IN IMPORTANT GAME TONIGHT

"OILERS" HOLD DOWN FIRST POSITION WITH FIVE STRAIGHT VICTORIES

WERNER AND ERICSSON WILL OPPOSE EACH OTHER; GAME AT 6:15 P. M.

Tonight the outstanding game of the week will be played when the Sinclair Oil Co. will clash with the Bye Clothing Co. at the Water Tower grounds. The game will begin at 6:15 o'clock.

A fast game is assured as the Sinclair Oils, who are in first place with five straight victories, will fight to preserve their perfect record and chalk up their sixth victory. While Bye Clothing, if they lose, will have only a slight chance to get into the playoff so they will put forth their best efforts to win.

Werner will pitch for the Oilers and Ericsson will receive his shoots. Erickson, the pitching ace for the "Byers", will carry the burden of mound duty for Byes and Flaata will be behind the bat.

The tentative Sinclair Oil Co. lineup includes: c., Hively; p., Werner; 1st., Orth; rrs., Olson; 2b., Engbreton; 3b., Wise; 3b., Loom; lf., Haultala; cf., Blank; rf., Thompson.

The probable Bye Clothing lineup will be: c., Flaata; p., Ericsson; 1st., Wunderlich; rrs., Dybyvig; 2b., Frick; 3b., Halverson; 3b., Swanson; lf., Senn; cf., Nutting; rf., Larson.

Watching the Scoreboard

(By United Press)

Yesterday's Hero—Dazzy Vance. $25,000 Brooklyn pitcher, who held the hapless New York Giants to three hits and paved the way for Brooklyn's 2 to 0 victory at Ebbets field. The defeat leveled the Giants' winning percentage to .500 and left them with no chance of gaining first place in the National league before the powerful western clubs invade the east this week.

The Boston Braves remained at the head of the procession in the National. outitting the Philadelphia Phillies for a 14 to 12 victory at Philadelphia. Five home runs were included among the 26 runs.

The Chicago Cubs rallied twice, in the eighth and ninth, at Cincinnati, but the Reds met each rally and won, 5 to 4.

The St. Louis Browns climbed out to a game and a half lead in the American league by trimming Detroit, 6 to 5, at Detroit.

Big Ed Morris let the Philadelphia Athletics down with four hits at Boston and the Red Sox won a game, 4 to 1.

The Chicago White Sox trounced Cleveland, 8 to 4, to make a clean sweep of the four game series at Chicago.

The New York Yankees scored a rather lucky victory over the Washington Senators at New York, 10 to 9, in 10 innings.

DORIS GEIST AND ALICE NOLAN TO MEET IN FINALS

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS' TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP TO BE SETTLED HIS WEEK

DON GEIST AND ROGER KLEVENS ADVANCE TO SECOND ROUND IN BOYS' MEET

Doris Geist and Alice Nolan will meet some day this week when the weather permits for the girls tennis championship of the Brainerd high school.

The girls have advanced to the finals by playing consistent tennis. In the semi-finals, Miss Geist defeated Helen Sheets, 6-3, 6-0, while Alice Nolan beat Helen Bane, 6-2, 6-1.

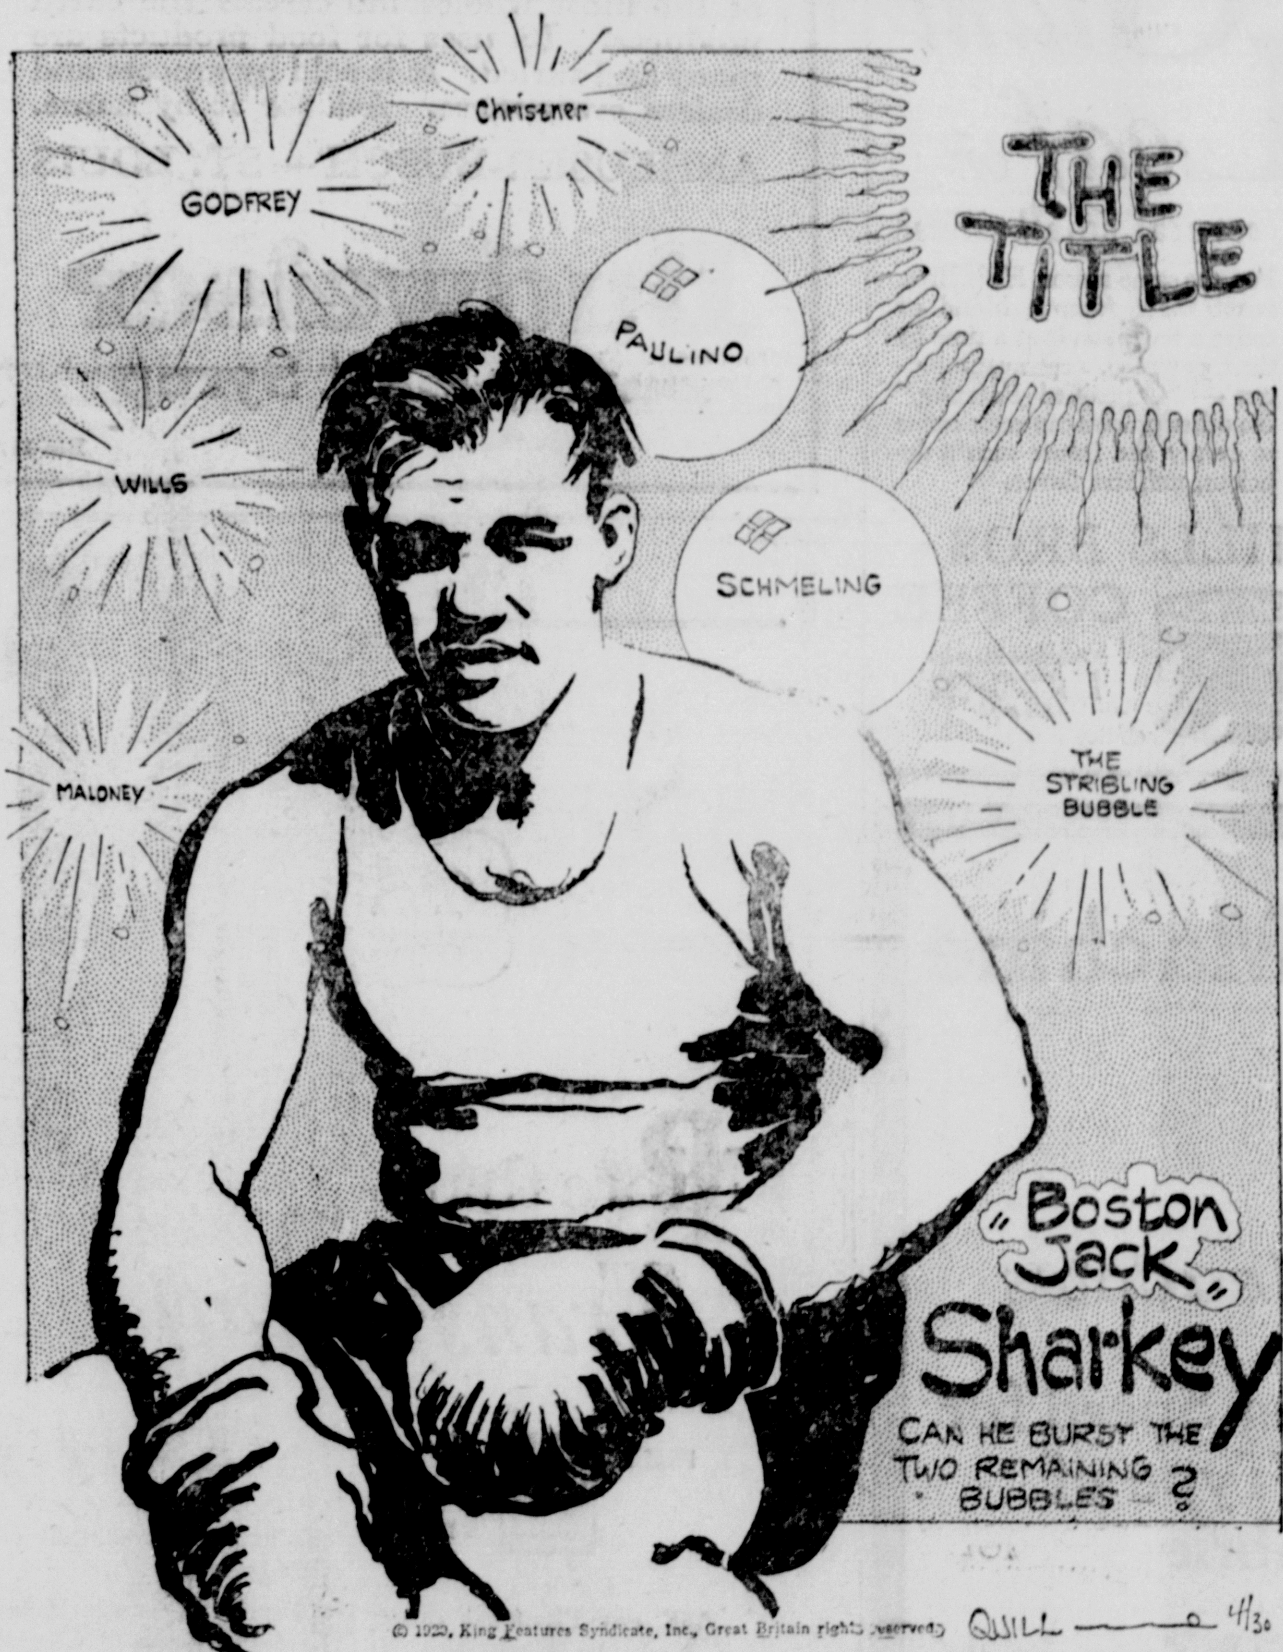

The second round of the boys' tournament will start this week. In recent sets Don Geist defeated LeRoy Weyt, 6-0 and Roger Klevens won from Hugh McCaffrey 6-2.

All sets are being played at the Gregory park court.

Wanted Love Gifts Back

Happiness felt by a septuagenarian when he remembered to an amusing court case at Armaugh, Ireland. The old man wanted the return of two goats which he said had been stolen from him, but which he later admitted he had given away in his wedded bliss. The case was dismissed.

JUST HOW good is this Sharkey man? Go into any town where they haven't seen the Boston Gob do his stuff and that's the first question the fight fans will ask you. The second quizz may have something to do with Schmeling or Paulino, and such questioners are all concerned as to Dempsey's future. However, the first query usually centers around the subject of Sharkey's efficiency in the ring.

Personally we feel that Sharkey is as good, if not better, than the rest of the heavyweights who are floundering around the court. His past performances would try. His past performances would try. His past performances would try. We won't go into the class or the lack of class of the present day heavies, but the Bostonian, who has acquired a reputation for being quite a talker, seems to have a slight edge on anyone above 175 pounds who is in the business of beak busting today.

At times Sharkey has fought some terrible fights—fights where he looked more like a palooka than a near-champion. But there have been other times when Sharkey showed considerable class and did it against some boys who are considered "top hole."

$2500.00 CASH PRIZES to Smokers of Charles Denby Cigars

NOTHING TO BUY. NOTHING TO GUESS. 348 CASH PRIZES ALL TOLD
Your Chance To Win a Prize Is As Good As Anybody's. Its Manufacturers Simply Want You To Tell Them In Your Own Natural Way Just What You Think Is The Real Secret Of The Charles Denby's Nation-wide Popularity And Why You Like It Better Than Any Other Cigar

Not only do they want you to tell them the "what" and the reasons "why", but also to state "when" you first started smoking the Charles Denby Cigar—yes, and what else there is about the "Denby" that you like best.

They want your candid opinion—your own thoughts expressed in your own words, in your own natural way—want to know just what makes all you fellows swear by the "Charles Denby".

Is it the "Denby's" flavor? Its straight shape? Is it the blending of such fine, mellow, old cigar tobaccos and Imported Sumatra wrapper, that makes it a totally different tasting smoke from any other cigar in the world?

No matter WHAT it is, nor WHO you are, nor WHERE you are, as a happy "Denby" smoker you can jot down something that has made the "Denby" please you better than any other cigar.

You have just as good a chance as anyone else to win one of the 348 CASH PRIZES by simply writing a short letter, and sending it in, as stipulated in the "Rules of Contest" herein.

Of course, its manufacturers KNOW the "SECRET". They discovered it 30 years ago, after they had been making standard grade cigars for 50 years and trying to figure out just what kind of cigar would most please most smokers. It pleased so many that they have never changed or tampered with the "Denby's" makeup or taste, either in times of peace or war. It is the same different-tasting cigar it was 30 years ago.

Remember, there are no strings to this offer—it's one of the ways its manufacturers want to show their appreciation and pay you liberally for writing them your experience and satisfaction in smoking the "Charles Denby".

You may have already smoked out that secret. So hop to it, now, Friend Smoker. It's a big chance for you to win some quick, easy money. This contest is a fair, square proposition, which you, as a loyal "Denby" friend and booster are interested in seeing "go over".

You don't have to write any jingles, poems, funny stuff, or use any highfalutin' words. You just state in your own plain way, what comes to you as the result of your delightful experience in the smoking of the "Charles Denby". It may knock off the top CASH PRIZE of $500 for you.

THE PRIZES

To afford the greatest number of Charles Denby Smokers a chance to win, the prizes have been divided into two classes of 174 prizes each:

CLASS A—174 PRIZES

FIRST PRIZE—$500.00 CASH to the one who has smoked the "Charles Denby" for the longest period in the last 30 years, and tells best in his own way what he thinks is the real secret of the "Denby's" nation-wide popularity and why so many smokers prefer it to any other cigar.

SECOND PRIZE—$250.00 CASH to the one who has smoked the "Charles Denby" for the next longest period and tells in the next best way what he thinks it is.

THIRD PRIZE—$100.00 CASH to the one who has smoked the "Charles Denby" for the next longest period and tells in the next best way what he thinks it is.

FOURTH PRIZE—$50.00 CASH to the one who has smoked the "Charles Denby" for the next longest period and tells in the next best way what he thinks it is.

FIFTH—5 CASH PRIZES of $10.00 each for the next 5 who have smoked the "Charles Denby" for the next longest period and tell in the next best way what he thinks it is.

SIXTH—15 CASH PRIZES of $10.00 each for the next 15 who have smoked the "Charles Denby" for the next longest period and tell in the next best way what he thinks it is.

BOSTON BRAVES SET OUT IN DIZZY RACE FOR PENNANT

MAY EQUAL THE RECORD BRAVES MADE IN 1914

AT OPENING OF SEASON OF 1929 BASEBALL CRITICS DOUBTFUL OF TEAM

JOHN J. MCGRAW'S MEN DIS-HEARTENED. CAN'T MAKE THEIR STRIDE

New York, May 1.—Probably nine out of every ten baseball writers in the United States have found reason in the past week to dig up the history of Boston's Braves of 1914 for the purpose of comparison with Emil Fuchs' 1929 edition.

School children throughout the nation know the story of the ball club that suffered a sunstroke while wallowing in the cellar during mid-season 1914, and rose to unexpected heights to capture the National league bunting and the world's championship.

Boston today is out in front of the National league race with a lead of four and a half games. Instead of starting at the bottom to work up, the 1929 Braves are starting at the top to work—who knows where?

Baseball critics, before the season opened, cast an almost unanimous vote for the Braves as the worst team in the league, and the majority still are to be convinced that they will finish higher than deep in the second division.

The Giant fans, here in New York, probably are the most worried group in the older circuit. Ten games with the Braves, Phillies and Robins, picked to finish sixth, seventh and eighth, name your order, have brought the Giants a percentage of but .500—and four powerful western teams will head east this week.

John J. McGraw has been a victim of something—he hasn't the least idea what. Of course yesterday's 2 to 0 defeat at Brooklyn was not a surprise. Dazzy Vance probably will beat the Giants again this year.

But against the Phils and Braves McGraw has been haunted by a flinx that defies definition. The Giant pitchers have looked better than those of the Yankees—and the opposition apparently weaker.

But the Giants have dawdled along, winning and losing for no apparent reason.

The theory has been advanced that the Giants must have stern opposition before they hit their stride and become really dangerous.

If this is the case they are due for rapid advancement for Friday next the St. Louis Cardinals invade the Polo grounds, to be followed in succession by the Pittsburgh Pirates, the Chicago Cubs and the Cincinnati Reds.

Those teams should bring out the best in any club—if opposition is all that's needed.

We won't go into the class or the lack of class of the present day heavies, but the Bostonian, who has acquired a reputation for being quite a talker, seems to have a slight edge on anyone above 175 pounds who is in the business of beak busting today.

At times Sharkey has fought some terrible fights—fights where he looked more like a palooka than a near-champion. But there have been other times when Sharkey showed considerable class and did it against some boys who are considered "top hole."

The fight with Dempsey was one of the times when Sharkey exhibited something beside a feather pillow. In the early stages of that set-to the Boston fellow had something plus. He waded in and had the Old Manassa Mauler looking rather pitiful. It is true that the Gob lost that encounter, but his boosters will always claim that Dempsey fouled him before he put him away.

Sharkey has had some other good starts sprinkled through his records. When it comes to courage, the sailor boy showed plenty when he tackled the two negro heavies, George Godfrey and Harry Wills—a couple of boys who had 'em all scared except Boston Jack. Wills didn't prove to be the menace he was cracked up to be, but both Dempsey and Tunney were sidestepping the Dark Shadow before Sharkey took him on and showed him up. Either one of these Sombor Swatters might have slapped the Gob down and finished his career as a fighter.

Against both Jimmy Maloney and Jack Delaney the Sharkey man uncovered a knockout punch. In his tussles with McTigue, Henney and Risko, Boston Jack was handicapped by too much confidence or too much indifference. In all of these bouts he failed to fight as good as he can fight.

Against K. O. Christner, the Bostonian got away to a bad start

To afford the greatest number of Charles Denby smokers a chance to win, the prizes have been divided into these two classes of 174 prizes each:

CLASS A—174 PRIZES

FIRST PRIZE—$500.00 CASH to the one who has smoked the "Charles Denby" for the longest period in the last 30 years. He tells best in his own way what he thinks is the real secret of the "Denby's" nationwide popularity and why so many smokers prefer it to any other cigar.

SECOND PRIZE—$250.00 CASH to the one who has smoked the "Charles Denby" for the next longest period and tells in the next best way what he thinks it is.

THIRD PRIZE—$100.00 CASH to the one who has smoked the "Charles Denby" for the next longest period and tells in the next best way what he thinks it is.

FOURTH PRIZE—$50.00 CASH to the one who has smoked the "Charles Denby" for the next longest period and tells in the next best way what he thinks it is.

FIFTH—5 CASH PRIZES of $10.00 each for the next 5 who have smoked the "Charles Denby" for the next greatest period and tell next best way.

SIXTH—15 CASH PRIZES of $5.00 each for the next 15 who have smoked the "Charles Denby" for the next greatest period and tell next best way.

SEVENTH—50 CASH PRIZES of $2.50 each for the next 50 who have smoked the "Charles Denby" for the next greatest period and tell next best way.

EIGHTH—100 CASH PRIZES of $1.00 each for the next 100 who have smoked the "Charles Denby" for the next greatest period and tell next best way.

CLASS B—174 PRIZES
FIRST PRIZE—$500.00 CASH for the one who has smoked the "Charles Denby" for the longest period and tells in the best way what he thinks is the real secret of its wonderful, nationwide popularity and why its smokers actually swear by it.

SECOND PRIZE—$250.00 CASH for the one who has smoked the "Charles Denby" for the next longest period and tells in the best way what he thinks it is.

THIRD PRIZE—$100.00 CASH for the one who has smoked the "Charles Denby" for the next longest period and tells in the best way what he thinks it is.

FOURTH PRIZE—$50.00 CASH for the one who has smoked the "Charles Denby" for the next longest period and tells in the best way what he thinks it is.

FIFTH—5 CASH PRIZES of $10.00 each for the next 5 who have smoked the "Charles Denby" for the next greatest period and tell next best way.

SIXTH—15 CASH PRIZES of $5.00 each for the next 15 who have smoked the "Charles Denby" for the next greatest period and tell next best way.

each for the next 5 who have been smoking the "Charles Denby" for any length of time up to five years and tell in the next best way what he thinks it is.

SIXTH—15 CASH PRIZES of $5.00 each for the next 15 who have been smoking the "Charles Denby" for any length of time up to five years and tell in the next best way what he thinks it is.

EIGHTH—100 CASH PRIZES of $1.00 each for the next 100 who have been smoking the "Charles Denby" for any length of time up to five years and tell in the next best way what he thinks it is.

RULES

1. BEGINNING AND ENDING—Contest begins today with the appearance of this announcement, which will not appear again, and will end at midnight May 15. Stop cut this offer now.

2. WHO ARE ELIGIBLE—No one in the employ of H. Fendrich, Inc., or their wholesale distributors, is eligible to contest for a prize. The contest is conducted for the individual smokers of the "Charles Denby" in order to obtain from them, direct, their own candid opinion expressed in their own natural way.

3. VERY IMPORTANT—(1) Print plainly at the top of the sheet of paper you use the date and number of years you have smoked the "Charles Denby". (2) Print your name, your full address, city, street, or R.F.D., and your state; also your business, and the name of dealer from whom you buy the "Denby". (3) Your letter not to contain more than 250 to 300 words. Write only on the front side of sheet of the paper you use.

4. CAUTION—Although neatness, artwork, and clever ideas will be welcomed, it is the naturalness of your expression that will count most.

5. WHERE TO SEND LETTERS—All letters must be addressed to CONTEST DEPARTMENT, H. Fendrich, Inc., Evansville, Ind., and received not later than midnight May 15.

6. HOW DECIDED—The merits of all letters will be decided by a committee of three competent, impartial smokers.

7. IN CASE OF A TIE on any prize, its full amount will be paid to the winners under its head.

8. FINALLY—This contest applies to all smokers of the Charles Denby cigars in any of its three sizes—50, 4 for 15c, and 3 for 25c.

BABCOCK CHEERFUL ABOUT HIGHWAYS

SAYS LEGISLATURE GAVE SERIOUS CONSIDERATION TO HIGHWAYS AND TRAFFIC

St. Paul, May 1—(UP)—Despite the disheartening squabbles in the 1929 Minnesota legislature over the state highway program, C. M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, and central figure in many of the battles, today expressed his pleasure over the work of the solons.

"The members of both houses gave fair and serious consideration to all the bills relative to highways and traffic," Babcock said.

"While they did not adopt all of the recommendations of this department, we are greatly pleased over the net results and we hope to be able to make substantial improvements in the highway system during the next four years."

At the same time Babcock announced a call for bids on new paving work, 1,000,000 gallons of road oil and tar, and 3,200 tons of calcium chloride.

The oil, tar and calcium chloride will be used on the unpaved roads to reduce the dust nuisance.

SOUTH LONG LAKE

We were glad to see so many out to Sunday school last Sunday. Come again next Sunday at 10:30 o'clock. Everybody welcome.

WHAT IS HOME WITHOUT A GARDEN?

GETTING A CUCUMBER START

It is too early to be absolutely safe about planting cucumbers but it is a simple matter to start a few hills in flower pots in a sheltered position safe from any vagrant frosts until the middle of the month when they may be put out with comparative safety over the greater portion of the country. Start five seeds to a five-inch pot. That will make a big hill, too many plants to a hill in fact, but all but the three strongest vines may be pulled up when they are safe from bugs. It is always necessary to sow more cucumber seeds to a hill than are needed because bugs are sure to take some toll of the young plants unless extraordinary precautions are taken. They are magnets and targets for a grand collection of insect life which preys on them in infancy. Once they have made good-sized leaves they are better able to cope with the pests.

In starting cucumber seeds give them a warm place to germinate, a sunny window with air on balmy days and the window closed if it gets nippy. The hills may be made ready in leisurely fashion while the seedlings are growing. Dig out a hole about eighteen inches deep and fill in with well-decayed manure, if obtainable; if not use a well rooted compost and if neither is at hand the commercial shredded cow manure or pulverized sheep manure may be mixed liberally with the earth. The old scheme of setting a tile upright in the hills, the top level with the soil, for purposes of sub-irrigation is a very practical and excellent idea for cucumbers and melons.

It will be an excellent idea to make some frames of boxes with top and bottom knocked out over which to tack mosquito netting to set over the hills until the plants get along in the world and too bulky for their covering. This will be an excellent guard against bugs. It is wise to start giving the plants a powdering of some insecticide as soon as the seed leaves are out of the ground. Success with cucumbers depends on getting them started before the bugs get them. Once vigorously started, the rest is easy and they can ramble at their leisure as they will grow fast enough to give food for the bugs and still give a good crop of cucumbers.

$2,500 Offer to Charles Denby Cigar Smokers

Announcement is made elsewhere in this paper today of the offer of $2500 in the way of cash prizes, ranging as high as $500, to the smokers of the Charles Denby cigar.

This big cash offer is made to the smokers for telling its manufacturer, H. Fendrich, Inc., Evansville, Ind., what they think is the secret of its nation-wide popularity and why so many smokers have so stuck by it for 30 years and prefer it to any other cigar.

As indicated in the announcement today, the prizes have been arranged so as to give both old and new smokers of the Charles Denby cigar a chance to win a cash prize of equal value. For the smokers who have smoked it the longest period within the 30 years it has been on the market, and tell in the best way what they think is the secret of its wide popularity, there are 174 cash prizes, ranging from $1.00 up to $500.00; same for those who have smoked the cigar for any length of time up to five years and give the best reasons therefore.

Since there is a wide sale of the Charles Denby cigar in this community, it is not at all unlikely that some local smoker may be the winner of one of the good prizes.

County Agent Roth Orders 1,000 Pounds of Sodium Chlorate For Use in County

Can Be Effectively Used to Kill Patches of Weeds; Not Harmful to Cattle

One thousand pounds of sodium chlorate, recently discovered by agricultural research scientists as an effective combatant to obnoxious weeds, its use being advocated for the eradication of weeds by agricultural department heads of universities of the west, will be received soon by County Agent E. G. Roth for use in Crow Wing county.

The sodium chlorate can be used to advantage in this county to kill out patches of quack grass, thistle and leafy spurge before farm machinery spreads the seeds of the weeds over fields, said Mr. Roth.

Farmers desiring sodium chlorate are requested to see Mr. Roth. The material costs 9 cents a pound and is mixed with water. It is used as a spray and requires about four pounds for the spraying of a square yard.

The effect of the sodium chlorate is to burn all vegetation where it is sprayed although in two months the ground will be ready for use. All roots of the weeds or vegetation sprayed are killed.

It can be safely used as it is not poisonous, thus not endangering cattle.

FORMER AIDE OF REMUS FOUND SHOT TO DEATH

Cincinnati, O., May 1.—(UP)—August Bruck, 34, described by police as a former aide of George Remus, ex-king of Cincinnati bootleggers, was found shot to death in a room in the Gibson hotel here early today.

The body was found by Charles Wright, a night watchman, who entered the room when he found the door open. Bruck had been shot three times, once in the head, in the abdomen and in the hand.

Hotel attaches said the room was rented Monday to a man registering as Joseph Plunkett of Cincinnati. Police said Plunkett also was associated with Remus in the latter's hey-day as rum-king, several years ago.

An empty gun holster was strapped over Bruck's right shoulder and a .38 calibre revolver which fitted the holster was found in the bathroom.

MEN'S RETREAT IS INVADED BY MODERN MAIDS

With the advent of bobbed hair man's most sacred sanctuary—the barber shop—was invaded by the fair sex and the man with a touch of chivalry felt the pangs of conscience when he was "next" and availed himself of the opportunity, despite the fact that women and girls were waiting.

Now another of the male's places of sanctuary has been assaulted and taken by the wearers of dresses—if they still can be called that. From time immemorial men were the sole recipients of the right to use the smoking cars on the railroad trains entering New York, but things are different now.

The other day four young things entered a smoking car on the Erie.

undismayed by the blue haze filling the coach.

"Oh, there's no room to play!" sighed one dolefully.

Four men playing pinochle, enjoying the novelty, surrendered their seats and one of the maids produced a deck.

"What'll we play—bridge?" asked one.

"Nix," said another. "That's only for women. Make it penny ante poker."

During the rest of the trip they gambled recklessly, as women will do, to the great amusement of the men crowded about them. — Duluth News Tribune.

CITY ENGINEER, CITY ATTORNEY ARE DISMISSED

Faribault, May 1.—(UP)—Citizens of Faribault today sought to learn why A. W. Bedell, city engineer, and C. A. Bachelier, city attorney, had been dismissed by the city council.

The council had not revealed shortly before noon today why the officials had been ousted during a special meeting of the town fathers.

Irwin Smith, assistant engineer, was named to succeed Bedell, and John Couthlin, a prominent attorney, was elected to succeed Bachelier.

Bears Out Certificate Order Not to Spare Any Wolf He Could Have Killed

When F. M. Chase saw a mother wolf running across an open field in Irondale township yesterday afternoon he thought of a particular phrase in the certificate for application of bounty which states "and that he did not on that occasion spare the life of any wolf he could have killed."

Chase who was on a wolf hunt at that particular occasion shot at the wolf five times but missed. Going to the fallen tree where he saw the wolf emerge he found a den of eight cub wolves.

To kill the cub wolves he placed them in a sack and drowned them. Today Chase collected a total of $48 in bounty from the county auditor's office.

Three others collected wolf bounties this week: S. Herman Peterson, Deerwood; Ole Anderson, Daggett Brook; Edgar Kolacz, Little Falls.

Drive it—and you'll know
Chrysler performance IS different

Chrysler enjoys its universal prestige and popularity because Chrysler is unique among motor cars.

There is no other motor car performance quite like Chrysler performance—so silky in power, so flashing in pick-up, so steady in speed, so untiring to drive, so disciplined in control.

This is understandable when you check the list of Chrysler engineering developments included in both the "65" and the "75"—chassis and body features, and combinations of features, to be enjoyed only in Chrysler cars.

Chrysler offers, in the final analysis, something more than just a motor car. It affords, in reality, a delightful new phase, a thrilling new experience, in motoring performance.

You can pay more and still not equal the performance or the intrinsic value that Chrysler "65" and "75" both give you at their remarkably moderate prices.

Ask any Chrysler dealer for a demonstration and learn the difference.

CHRYSLER "65"—Business Coupe, $1040; 2-door Sedan, $1065; 4-door Sedan, $1145. (Three other body styles to $1145.) CHRYSLER "75"—Royal Sedan, $1535; Coupe (with rumble seat), $1535; Roadster (with rumble seat), $1555. (Six other body styles to $2345.) Wire wheels extra. All prices f. o. b. factory. CHRYSLER "75" ROYAL SEDAN, $1535
Broadcloth upholstery optional, without extra cost
(Wire wheels extra)

Drive it—and you'll know
Chrysler performance IS different

Chrysler enjoys its universal prestige and popularity because Chrysler is unique among motor cars.

There is no other motor car performance quite like Chrysler performance—so silky in power, so flashing in pick-up, so steady in speed, so untiring to drive, so disciplined in control.

This is understandable when you check the list of Chrysler engineering developments included in both the "65" and the "75"—chassis and body features, and combinations of features, to be enjoyed only in Chrysler cars.

Chrysler offers, in the final analysis, something more than just a motor car. It affords, in reality, a delightful new phase, a thrilling new experience, in motoring performance.

You can pay more and still not equal the performance or the intrinsic value that Chrysler "65" and "75" both give you at their remarkably moderate prices.

Ask any Chrysler dealer for a demonstration and learn the difference.

CHRYSLER "65"—Business Coupe, $1040; 2-door Sedan, $1065; 4-door Sedan, $1145. (Three other body styles to $1145.) CHRYSLER "75"—Royal Sedan, $1535; Coupe (with rumble seat), $1535; Roadster (with rumble seat), $1555. (Six other body styles to $2345.) Wire wheels extra. All prices f. o. b. factory. Chrysler dealers extend the convenience of time payments.

6-cylinder high-compression engine of Chrysler "Silver-Dome" principle •• 7-bearing counter-weighted crankshaft •• Crankshaft impulse neutralizer •• Iso-therm Invar Strut pistons with tongue and groove rings •• Rubber engine-mountings •• Manifold heat control •• Electric gasoline gauge on dash •• Pivotal steering •• Spring-ends anchored in blocks of live rubber, instead of metal shackles •• Chrysler-type weatherproof internal-expanding 4-wheel hydraulic brakes •• Hydraulic shock absorbers •• Mohair or broadcloth upholstery optional, without extra cost. Etc.

Daphne by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

DAPHNE HAINES, seventeen and lovely, finds life intolerable because of a nagging, jealous stepmother whose main aim is to promote a courtship between her own daughter, Crystal, and wealthy, attractive Ralph McKevitt. Catching a fleeting glimpse of Daphne, the "prize" young man admires her. Mrs. Haines, fearing the rivalry of the young girl, schemes to eliminate her from the scene. Daphne, dismayed when she realizes how completely these two calculating women have her father in their power, comforts herself by spinning secret dreams of a day when someone will really love her—a man, big, powerful, handsome, like Ralph! A sordid quarrel is provoked between Haines and his wife because of the woman's reckless expenditures. Subtly Mrs. Haines draws Daphne into the brawl. Feeling the hopelessness of her situation, Daphne determines to make her own way in the world, and leaves for San Francisco. With twenty dollars capital she seeks employment and learns it is hard to find. Daphne has an unpleasant experience with a prospective employer and in her haste to get away from him, leaves a purse containing her last five dollars in his office. The wolf seems perilously close.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER IX.

HAD GARTZ taken the five dollars to punish her, or make her come back to claim it? Or the black-satin girl, could it have been she? Daphne wondered, speculating upon the possibilities as she might have if it had been someone else's purse, some other girl's hard luck. Perhaps the money fell out earlier in the day . . . but it didn't matter . . . she didn't care very much. "I'm glad I gave him the fifty cents, poor old fellow!" she thought with a faint glow of satisfaction, remembering the elevator man's pleasure. "I'll make a difference to him. I know he didn't take the money anyway—" "You could ink that place on your heel so the hole wouldn't show so much," the girl next to her said, pointing to the gaping hole in Daphne's stocking again. "I used to ink my leg when I got holes in black stockings. I always wear beige now—beige are better—a run hardly shows."

"But there's no beige ink!" Daphne giggled. Beige ink! What a crazy idea! She giggled again, hysterically.

The girl turned away, disgusted with her, and Daphne sank back into the half stupor that had claimed her. She sat there all day, rousing herself at intervals, to answer the questions that were put to her. No, she hadn't had any experience in a bank. No, she couldn't run a comptometer. No, she didn't mind working in a pickle factory.

It really looked as though she might get the pickle job, but she finally decided to "let her know later." Daphne knew what that meant.

"I ought to feel simply awful!" she thought on her way back from the pickle factory, "it's twenty-four hours since I've eaten, and only five cents—and no job—"

But she wasn't even hungry any more, and she was as light-hearted as she was light-headed. Nothing mattered. She had stopped worrying about what was going to happen to her.

When the office closed at half-past five she walked leisurely down Market street, pausing to look in the windows. Hardware. Gentlemen's furnishings. Office supplies. Camping outfits. She looked at them all, impartially, seeing nothing.

Street cars jangled past, automobiles pressed close to the curb in the rush of traffic, commuters bound for the ferry brushed her impatiently aside. And it came to her, suddenly, that she was the only one in all that hurrying crowd who wasn't rushing somewhere for dinner. There came a sinking feeling in the middle of her stomach, a queer gnawing.

"But I'm not really hungry!" she reassured herself. "I don't feel a bit like eating. I never felt like this when I was hungry before . . . I wonder if I'm going to be sick. I feel so funny . . . my head . . . wonder what people would say if I sat down on the curb over here . . ."

"But I'm not really hungry!" She kept on walking, one foot before the other, counting the steps carefully . . . eight hundred and ninety-nine, nine hundred, nine hundred and one, two, three . . .

After a while, without knowing or caring just how she got there, she found herself at the ferry, and then, far up the Embarkadero, at one of the wharves. It had grown dark, there were lights in the street lamps, lights twinkling in the shadows on Telegraph Hill.

Lights on the ferries on the bay. The hours between six and eight had slipped away somehow . . . time to be walking home.

Daphne read the menu to make sure that coffee wouldn't cost ten cents.

Miles and miles to walk, and she was so tired, she had walked so far. She'd ride home, spend that last five cents. You can't buy anything with five cents anyway, no use keeping it . . . Yes, and if she did that she'd have to walk back in the morning. How long can you hang around an employment agency without getting a job? Forever maybe. Besides her room rent would be up in six days, and then what?

What do you do when you have no money, and no place to sleep? The Salvation Army . . . or the police station. . . "Please, can I sleep in the jail?" What an idea! She laughed aloud, and the sound of her own laugh frightened her . . . what if someone heard . . . what if someone saw her standing there by the water so long. . . They'd think . . .

She looked down at the dark water, lapping gently against the piles. A crate bobbed up and down, a few old oranges, a rotting cantaloupe . . . lap, lap, lap . . . so quiet, and dark . . .

"I've got to go home!" she whispered to herself. "I can't stay here any longer!"

A red roadster whizzed by, a girl's shrill, happy laughter tinkled, lingered a moment, and was gone in a whiff of gasoline.

A pickup maybe. Girls did things like that. Other girls did, why couldn't she? It would be nice to ride in a fast red car, and stop somewhere where it was bright and light, for something hot to eat. Something hot . . . she pulled her coat tighter about her. It was getting cold there on the pier.

Two drunken seamen lurched by. One of them was singing softly, in a sentimental whiskey tenor. . . "Lay my head be-neath the rose . . ."

Daphne listened, huddled in the shadows . . . "Be-neath the rose . . ."

It was oddly sweet in the silence of the wharf . . . And the lurching seamen weren't alone, they had each other.

"I'll do it!" she decided hotly. "I'll pick someone up. Everybody else does, I don't know why I shouldn't!"

Mr. Gartz . . . whatever made him pop into her head? Mr. Gartz, and his wet, thick lips on her neck . . . Ugh! She scrubbed at the spot, just below her right ear, sickened at the remembrance . . . It wasn't any use, she couldn't do it.

She leaned against the shed again, straining her ears to hear the last of the sailor's song, hearing instead the soft lap, lap of water . . . a cradle song. A song for her . . .

She looked over the edge . . .

dark and quiet with just the crate bobbing up and down, up and down, peacefully . . . it wouldn't be so bad to be bobbing up and down there, dead . . . if you went too close to the edge . . . and fell in . . .

Lap, lap, lap . . . the water against the piles . . . talking to her . . . If she should fall in . . . accidentally . . .

She wouldn't do it, of course, but her feet were bringing her nearer the edge. Her hands were searching in the small red purse for her card case, to destroy the cards, just in case . . . The nickel!

She pulled it out thoughtfully. It seemed a shame not to spend it. . .

She stood looking at it in the darkness, feeling its shiny side. Suppose it were only a telephone slug! "Well, I'll go spend it anyway," she thought whimsically. "I'll buy a cup of coffee down here somewhere, and if it's bogus I'll say I couldn't see it in the dark!"

A cup of coffee! She could almost taste it, could almost smell its hot fragrance . . .

She ran all the way back to the ferry, keeping close to the lights, away from the piers. She was suddenly afraid of the smooth, oily water.

When you have only a nickel you have to read the menu pasted on the window to make sure coffee won't be ten cents. It was five at the "Java Inn," just a block from the Ferry Building. A nice, clean-looking place, with a plate glass window, and a red-faced cook in a white cap, dropping hot cakes merrily. The most delicious smell of coffee and toast, and frying steaks, came out to her on the sidewalk. She pushed in the door

WOODROW

The P. T. A. Friday evening was well attended. Ruby Miller had charge of the program and Phyllis and Virginia Miller gave recitations while Virgil Peterson gave a reading and Leslie Peterson a monologue. Mr. and Mrs. Pointon sang a duet and responded to an encore. Supper, served by the male element, was a huge success.

Some of those in attendance at the Edquist sale were Mr. and Mrs. Sather, Mrs. Dan Peterson, Mrs. A. G. Trommald, Dick Sagli, Mr. and Mrs. Holmgren, Miss Elsie Christianson, Mrs. Holler and Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson.

John Shuffelen purchased a feed mill and a cow at the Elquist sale.

Miss Evelyn Dullum was an overnight guest of Marie Simonson Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Britton from Pine Center are visiting at Harve Hokin's.

Mr. Kunde and sons spent Saturday afternoon at Clarence Norgard's.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson made a business trip to Brainerd Saturday.

Relief from Gas Stomach Pains Dizziness

The doctors tell us that 90 per cent of all sickness is due to stomach and bowel troubles. You can't be well if your digestion is bad; you are likely to get sick unless you relish food and digest it properly.

Tanlac has a wonderful record as a relief from digestive troubles, even those of years' standing.

Mr. Charles Axelsson, of 1809 2nd St. South, Minneapolis, Minn., says: "I was troubled with a disordered stomach and loss of appetite. Tanlac put new life in me. I've put on 11 lbs. and feel as well as I ever did in my life!"

If you suffer from gas, pains in the stomach or bowels, dizziness, nausea, constipation, or torpid liver; if you have no appetite, can't sleep and are nervous and all run down, you need Tanlac. It is good, pure medicine, made of roots, herbs and barks. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Money back if it doesn't help you.
